Two Storms Pulverize West Coast

Portland Virtually Paralyzed; 35 Dead

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A howling storm, with wind gusting to more than 100 miles an hour left at least 26 persons dead and a broad band of devastation along the West Coast today.

That made the two-day toll of 35 killed by successive storms, with 13 dead, 11 in California, 8 in Washington and 3 in British Columbia.

National Guard units and all available police were on duty in the Portland area to curb looting, which began after the wind smashed hundreds of store windows Friday.

Residents Stay Home

Portland was virtually paralyzed. Most power and telephone lines were broken by winds that sent signposts sailing, knocked down thousands of trees, tore the roofs off scores of buildings and blew in countless windows.

The city sprawled in darkness Friday night, and residents huddled up in their homes, fearful of flying debris outside.

It was the same along the Oregon coast and in a number of Oregon communities up the Willamette Valley in western Oregon.

The storm was felt from northern California to British Columbia, but Oregon caught the worst of it.

"It was probably the biggest disaster that Oregon ever had," said Gov. Mark Hatfield, who declared a state of emergency and alerted the National Guard. Some guard units went on active duty in the Willamette Valley. Hatfield said he might decide later today whether to ask President Kennedy for disaster aid.

Worst Is Over

The worst was over. Winds were diminishing and the Weather Bureau said winds of only 25 to 30 miles an hour were expected on the coast today.

Oregon Public Utility Commissioner Jonel Hill estimated it will take at least four days to repair utility lines.

A fire broke out in Junction City, Ore., about 100 miles south of Portland, and two square blocks were leveled. Damage was estimated at $400,000.

In Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River—where the storm apparently centered—a fish cannery was flattened.

The peak force of the wind at Portland was not measured. Power lines were knocked out at the Weather Bureau before the height of the storm. Wind-measuring equipment registered 80 miles an hour before going out of operation.

Experienced weather observers estimated the gusts at well over 100 m.p.h.

Trees Block Streets

They were measured at 120 m.p.h. at a station on the northern Oregon coast. Mt. Tamalpais in California, just north of San Francisco, registered 121 m.p.h.

Hundreds of streets were blocked by toppled trees. U.S. 101, a major north-south highway, was blocked by downed redwood trees between Eureka and Crescent City, Calif.

The Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co. said its repair bills alone will mount to $400,000 or more.

Shipping disasters were avoided, although at one time there were boats adrift at Seattle, Portland and a number of smaller ports.

The fury of the storm was felt as far as 125 miles inland, where it was finally blunted by the Cascade Mountains.

At one time three trains were reported missing between Seattle and Portland. It turned out they were delayed by trees and debris on the tracks, but with all communications out, it took hours to locate them.

$40 Million Loss

A 40-foot-long section of the Portland Auditorium roof was blown off and carried a block away. The city's Memorial Coliseum had shattered windows and the roof was leaking badly. Multnomah Stadium, where the Washington-Oregon State football game was scheduled today, lost part of its grandstand roof.

GOV. ROSS BARNETT

Action Put Off Until Next Week In Contempt Case

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Final action in contempt proceedings against Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett in the University of Mississippi desegregation case has been delayed until next week by a federal appeals court.

Barnett faces possible arrest and a $10,000 daily fine.

An attorney for Barnett started the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday when he said he had not been authorized to say 10 days ago that Barnett would comply absolutely with all orders of the court.

Compliance Likely

Attorney Charles Clark said Barnett would comply "insofar as he is physically able." He said Barnett would decide himself when he could comply with the orders.

Clark contended the court had misinterpreted his language.

Judge Richard T. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., who had been present at the previous hearing, commented:

"We have indeed entered Alice in Wonderland where language doesn't mean what it says."

The court delayed action in the contempt case pending a decision on legal questions raised by the Justice Department's request for an injunction to prevent Mississippi officials from interfering with the position of James H. Meredith, a Negro, as an Ole Miss student.

It ordered written briefs be submitted by Monday.

Congress Groping To Bizarre Windup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 87th Congress—firing off SOS signals for truant members to hustle back—tried to reach final adjournment today through a maze of parliamentary tangles.

The drive to end the 1962 session Friday night collapsed when the House had to quit because it fell 14 short of the 218 members needed to provide a quorum.

First Since 1945

This was the first time such a thing had happened in that body since 1945.

Both Senate and House had been in recess most of Friday afternoon and evening while their leaders tried desperately in cloakroom huddles to clear away the last roadblocks.

Veteran attaches at the Capitol called it the most bizarre windup attempt in memory.

However, after the House had been forced to quit until today, leaders of both branches held another session and worked out a plan which they said should bring adjournment late this afternoon.

The first requirement is that the House muster a quorum, or majority, as soon as it meets. Democratic Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., said this had been assured. A number of members from Eastern states had promised to come back.

If this is accomplished, the House then plans to complete action on the last bill it would have to put through—a $5 billion public works appropriations bill.

The House was voting on this Friday night when it was forced to give up.

Before passing it, however, leaders plan to have the House amend it to restore some public works projects for Oregon and other states which were knocked out earlier in the Senate-House conference on the legislation.

Two Senate Bills Yet

The Senate then will have to act on only two bills—the public works money measure and a $2.4 billion public works authorization bill agreed on Friday.

This authorization measure, containing projects for all parts of the country, had been the stumbling block to adjournment. But the dispute over it ended Friday, with Senate agreement to eliminate about eight major projects the House adamantly opposed.

The House then promptly passed the compromise version.

It had passed the Senate Thursday night. But Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, blocked it from going to conference because of a number of items the Senate added.

The supplemental had been considered the key to adjournment because the Senate had added to (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

Paul Handy Victim of Holdup Try

2nd Time Couple Struck at Store

A 53-year-old Modena grocer, who was assaulted and robbed by three men in his store last May 2, was murdered Friday night and his wife was seriously wounded in an apparent attempted holdup during which a 39-year-old chicken farm laborer fired eight shots at the couple as they tried to flee to safety.

State Police officials reported Paul Handy, 53, proprietor of a Modena grocery store, died at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, at 8 p. m., of bullet wounds of the abdomen and chest. Handy's wife, Emma, 50, was reported in fair condition at the hospital, suffering a bullet wound of the abdomen.

Francisco Rosario Charged

Charged with murder first degree is Francisco Rosario, 39, Route 32, Modena, a laborer employed at the La Pan's chicken farm. He was committed to the Ulster County Jail by Justice of the Peace Philip Schunk, Town of Lloyd, pending a hearing next week.

On May 2, Handy and his wife were in their store when three men entered and assaulted them before taking money from the cash register.

Two of the men involved in the May robbery were apprehended and later sentenced. They were Claude Lee Henderson, 27, of Falmec, Fla., and Richard Cobb, 16, of Pine Island, Orange County. Henderson pleaded guilty to first degree robbery and was sentenced to 4 to 10 years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison. Cobb was treated as a youthful offender and was committed to the Elmira Reformatory.

3rd Returned Tuesday

The third man in the May holdup, Joseph Shady Gordon, 18, of Philadelphia, Pa., was apprehended in that city by FBI agents and returned to Ulster County last Tuesday to face robbery charges.

Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCordie, District Attorney David Corwin, Assistant District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca and Senior Investigator Edward Shannon, and Troopers Salter and Leonard Dayka took part in the investigation of last night's shooting.

According to authorities, Mr. and Mrs. Handy were standing behind the counter, when suddenly Rosario brandished a 7.65 mm automatic pistol and fired eight shots at the grocer and his wife. A bullet entered his wife's abdomen and both fell to the floor.

The wounded couple were rushed to Vassar Hospital by the New Paltz Rescue squad. Handy was pronounced dead at 8 p. m. Troopers reported three men were in the store at the time of the shooting. They were identified by Trooper Dayka as Henry (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

Highland Teacher Elected Secretary By School Press

Robert Wattles, English teacher at Highland High School, was elected secretary of the Empire State School Press Association Friday during a meeting in Syracuse.

Wattles, who resides on Rifton Road, New Paltz, is faculty adviser for the Highland school paper, Highland Fling.

Sister Marie Catherine of Nazareth Academy, Rochester, is the new president of the press association, an organization of high school student editors and their advisers. She succeeds Laurence Piper of Pulaski High School.

Others elected yesterday were: George Pappas, Sweet Home Central School, Buffalo, vice president; Mrs. Virginia Hussey, Henrietta High School, Henrietta, treasurer.

About 500 student editors and advisers are attending the two-day convention which ends today.

Gov. Tours Gotham, Morgy Hits Upstate

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Democrat Robert M. Morgenthau pointed his gubernatorial campaign to the Upstate area today, carrying with him political tips given him by President Kennedy.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller focused his re-election effort on New York City after promising to advance the state's conservation program.

Morgenthau's schedule today included appearances in Albany, Buffalo, Lake Placid, Saranac Lake, and Westchester County. Sunday will be spent with Kennedy in Buffalo.

After sharing the reception given Kennedy in New York Friday during the Columbus Day parade, Morgenthau used the President's theme in attacking the Republican record in Congress.

On a swing through Nassau and Suffolk counties, Morgenthau told newsmen Kennedy had given him some advice on how to beat Rockefeller.

Morgenthau said the President told him to attack Rockefeller as a leader of the GOP in the state, and as such, the man responsible for opposition of New York Republican congressmen to the Kennedy program.

In speeches at Northport and Huntington, Morgenthau said Rockefeller promised "many things" when he became governor.

He added: "His record is the record of the Republican Party. The Republican Party has not followed through. He has to bear the responsibility for this and for the Republican delegation in Washington. He is the leader of the Republican Party in New York State."

Reds Snoop On Pacific Bomb Test Await Big Blast

HONOLULU (AP)—Three Russian ships bristling with electronic instruments have moved inside the Johnston Island test area, presumably to snoop on the United States' rocket-borne nuclear blast scheduled for Sunday night.

A spokesman for Joint Task Force 8, conducting the test, said the missile range ships—the Sibir, Suchan and Sakhalin—appeared two days ago on the western fringe of the U.S. restricted area.

The ships are moving in a southeasterly direction, headed toward a point southwest of Hawaii.

U.S. Navy patrol planes notified the ships they were inside the zone, a task force spokesman said, but the Russians "manifested little concern."

Because the U.S. nuclear test zone is in international waters, the United States cannot force the Russian ships to leave.

During high-altitude nuclear tests last summer, the Soviets stationed a hydro-meteorological research ship and two smaller electronic-equipped vessels near the test area.

Sunday's planned test is a continuation of the "Operation Dominic" series which began last April at Christmas Island and was halted July 25 when a rocket exploded on the launch pad.

The explosion inflicted heavy damage on test facilities and halted testing for two months. The series resumed last week with two low-altitude shots dropped from airplanes.

The United States plans to explode the equivalent of less than a million tons of TNT—"submegaton"—at an altitude of 30 to 40 miles on Sunday night.

Sunday's planned detonation will be the 30th of the current series, including plane-dropped shots at Christmas and Johnston.

Shelter Workshop On Broadway Open From 9 to 4 P. M.

Next week has been designated as "Hire Handicapped Week" and Gateway Industries, Inc., will hold an "open house" Monday, Oct. 15, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The public is invited to visit the Shelter Workshop at 519 Broadway to see the work done by handicapped.

Following the "open house" a membership meeting will be held Monday at 8 p. m. when the members will have the opportunity to discuss the progress of the organization after which they will elect new members to the board of directors.

Established in 1961

Gateway Industries, Inc., was founded by a group of citizens who were interested in seeing that the handicapped had the opportunity to receive vocational training for gainful employment as well as providing a place of employment for those handicapped who are not equipped to compete in competitive employment.

These citizens, with the aid of local organizations and industries and under the sponsorship of the Kingston Lodge of B'nai B'rith, established a Shelter Workshop in January 1961.

The workshop began with only 12 trainees, eight of whom were placed in the power sewing machine training program. As the year progressed, the agency expanded its work to include chair caning, refinishing of furniture, upholstering, assembly work, typing, bookkeeping, stenography and the use of adding machines.

Gateway Industries' ultimate goal is to develop a stable, efficient and loyal employee who is (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

State Police Probe $2,500 Burglarly at Ulster Store

Authorities throughout this area today continued search for burglars who entered the Kingston Appliance Co. store on Albany Avenue Extension sometime Thursday night or early Friday and stole merchandise and cash estimated at $2,500.

Kingston state police reported Elisa Ringwood, proprietor of the store, discovered the burglary at about 10 a. m. Friday. She notified authorities and Senior Investigator Edward Shannon and Investigators Roger Gardner and Joseph Ventriglia investigated.

According to troopers, the intruder apparently used a key to open a door admitting him to the store. A cabinet type safe was pried open and about $20 in cash, a watch and other articles of jewelry were stolen.

Troopers said several television sets, radios, vacuum cleaners and other merchandise were taken from the store, apparently carried off by the burglar in a truck or automobile.

Chase Costs Driver $100; Others Fined

For leading patrolmen a merry chase over the city streets at speeds up to 100 miles per hour Friday night, it cost a 21-year-old local man $100 in fines in City Court this morning.

Judge Joseph D. Saccoman fined Lawrence Scarth, 21, of Box 86, West Hurley, $95 for speeding and $5 for passing through a red light after he had been arrested on those charges Friday night when three patrol cars chased his sedan over city streets at speeds reported to have been as high as 100 miles per hour.

Patrolmen Frank Stip and Floyd Krom, in Patrol Car 4, requested assistance after they began chasing Scarth's vehicle on Downs Street. Patrol Cars 3 and 4, manned by Patrolmen Weston Hoffay and George Barringer and Detectives Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton Jr. respectively joined the chase after the alleged high speeding vehicle. From Downs Street, Scarth reportedly led the patrol cars to Hasbrouck Avenue, over Foxhall Avenue to East Pierpont Street, to Broadway and to Wurts Street before he was apprehended on Broadway near Pine Grove Avenue at 10 p. m.

Eleven other speeders were fined a total of $235 by Judge Saccoman this morning after being arrested at a speed trap set up Thursday on Wilbur Avenue near Gilead Street.

Those fined were: Doris Sharkin, 46, of 240 Washington Avenue, $50; Enrice A. Albano, 36, of 276 Pearl Street, $20; Clair Sheaffer, 55, of Maiden Lane Extension, $20; Elbert A. Harris, 49, of 4 Alder Street, Red Hook, $20; Lila R. Newton, of 30 Broadway, $20; Marion L. Lawson, 36, of Box 82, High Falls, $15; Pauline L. Stokes, 35, of Ulster Park, $20; Jeanette M. Wells, 36, of 90 De Witt Street, $20; George Lober, 57, of Box 78, Rifton, $20; Bernard Addis, Kerhonkson, $15; Johanna Arnold, 54, of Box 88, High Falls, $15.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The Very Rev. John J. Weaver, dean of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral in Detroit, is demonstrating to an unusual degree today's ever expanding spirit of cooperation among religious groups.

Early this year Dean Weaver chanced to read, in a Protestant publication, an account of how 21 members of a Catholic missionary order, the Holy Ghost Fathers, were massacred by soldiers at Kongo in the Congo.

He decided to ask his flock for contributions to help train replacements for the priests, and his parishioners have responded generously. The goal of the Ecumenical Charity Fund, as it is termed, is $180,000.

"The inspiration," said Dean Weaver, "came from God. It may take three or four years, but we won't stop. We feel it is worthwhile if it helps in making us all one."

Vatican Council To Explore Role Of Church Laity

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second in a series of articles on the major issues to be considered by the Second Vatican Council prepared for The Freeman by the Rev. Daniel F. Hickey, CSSR, assistant editor of Perpetual Help Magazine, Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus.

The Role of the Laity

Among the topics for discussion at the Second Vatican Council, begun in Rome, Oct. 11, is the role of the laity in the church. Bishop Allen J. Babcock of Grand Rapids, Mich., a member of the council's commission on the lay apostolate, stressed the importance of this topic by referring to the council as, "a trail-blazing council for the laity."

The term, laity, embraces all the members of the church who have not been ordained to a sacred office. It includes nearly 550 million Catholics throughout the world.

The role of the laity in the church, in its deepest sense, is to continue the life and activity of Christ in the world. From the biblical Christians caring for the poor of Jerusalem and suffering martyrdom by Roman rulers to the present-day members of such apostolic lay organizations as the Legion of Mary and the Grail, the laity has brought Christ to the world.

Pope Pius XII explained the role of the laity to a Congress of lay apostles in 1951. The role is two-fold. One is individual, the other social. The layman fulfills the individual aspect by becoming personally holy through prayer, humility, patient suffering, love of God. His good example gives witness to Christ.

He fulfills the social aspect by bringing Christ's teachings into the society in which he lives. Through his own actions and attitudes he actively strives to make Christ's teachings penetrate and color the whole range of the social order—economics, politics, education, sports and family life.

The great emphasis in recent years has been on the social role of the laity. The spread of secularism through the 19th and 20th centuries has demanded this emphasis. Secularism divorces religion and morality from daily life and would have the Church retire from the "meat-and-potatoes" life of the people into the silence of a marble sanctuary. To combat this evil, the church has looked to the laity. The laity is the bridge between the church and society.

That the laity might more effectively Christianize society, lay organizations such as the Christian Family Movement, the Young Christian Workers and the Knights of Columbus, have sprung up. These organizations train their members in their apostolate and work collectively to bring the spirit of Christ to society and its institutions.

The Second Vatican Council is expected to encourage the laity and emphasize the dignity of its apostolic role. New stress will be put on the theological basis of the layman's role in the church.

This last, the theological basis, has already found expression in Pope Pius XII's encyclical letter of 1943 in which he explained the nature of the Catholic Church. Using St. Paul's image of a living body to describe the church, Pope Pius wrote that the church lives Christ's own supernatural life. Thus all members share Christ's life as the arms and legs share the life of a living body. . . . and His divine power permeates each of the members. Christ and the church are as vine and branch sharing the same life.

Then speaking of the mission of the church to preach the gospel to all nations he pointed out that Christ works through all his members continuing his work of teaching, ruling, sanctifying mankind. The laity, as members of this Body of Christ, share the mission of the church. They must "salt," "leaven," and "light" to the world.

NEW GRACE COMMUNITY CHURCH—The $65,000 Grace Community Church building will be open for worship services Oct. 21. The new church is built on a 2.8 acre site situated

Building Program Of Grace Church Nears Completion

An extensive building program of the Grace Community Church culminates next Sunday when worship services will be conducted for the first time in the new building at Neighborhood Road, Lake Katrine.

The edifice was designed by Albert Edward Milliken, architect, and built by the Red Arrow Construction Co., Wichita, Kansas, at a contract price of $65,000. It is a two story building, with a cathedral roof, supported by laminated arches.

The main floor consists of a worship sanctuary with a seating capacity of 300, a church office, pastor's study, and "The Jewel Box," a glass enclosed room in the rear of the auditorium for mothers with small children; services will be heard in this room by the use of loudspeakers. The walls of the auditorium are of glass block, 80 per cent clear, 20 per cent in color tones of red, green, yellow and walnut. In the front wall of the auditorium there is a large walnut cross set in clear glass block.

The auditorium is furnished with new oak pews, and pulpit; the chancel rails and baptismal rail are of matching oak.

The lower floor consists of five classrooms in different pastel color tones, a furnace room, kitchen, rest rooms, closets, and an assembly area with a capacity of 200.

The building is situated on a site of 2.8 acres of property, purchased in Oct., 1960 at a cost of $8,000.

Building committee members are Willard Davis, chairman; Richard Adams, Harry Houghtaling, Donald Houseman, Roland Neice, John Sandeen, Harley Wehrly, and the Rev. Scott E. Vining, pastor.

The building will be used for Sunday school, morning and evening church services for children held simultaneously; nursery, youth meetings, mid-week prayer service, released time classes, missionary meetings, and social activities.

Grace Community Church was organized on Oct. 19, 1958, with 28 charter members, and was incorporated by the state of New York on Dec. 1, 1958. At the time of organization the church Sunday school united with the Lake Katrine Sunday school which has a history dating back to 1830. Prior to moving into the new church, services were held at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

The church is governed by the congregation. Income last year was $18,278.91, from free-will offerings, 100 per cent.

Protestants Express Views On Ecumenical Council Aims

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the eight American Protestant delegate-observers to the 2nd Vatican Council have commented on council prospects in response to an invitation from a weekly Catholic newspaper.

Protestant delegates attend the council, which opened Thursday, at the invitation of the Vatican, to observe the deliberations and report to their own religious communities.

The Catholic Reporter, which had listed issues expected to come before the council and asked all eight delegate-observers for comment, published the three statements in full.

Historic Turning Point

Concern with "a total disregard for moral standards everywhere" was expressed by Dr. Frederick C. Grant, one of three observers from the Anglican Communion. Dr. Grant added, "I believe the council will be—surely may be—one of the great turning points in world history."

Optimism also was expressed by Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., the largest all-Negro religious body in the world: "As a result of this conference I look forward to a greater fellowship and understanding between Protestants and Catholics the world over."

Dr. Jackson is the only Baptist delegate-observer at the council.

Dr. Albert C. Outler, professor at Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University, discussed the council's possible effects on the ecumenical movement and said, "No matter what does happen, the ecumenical situation is bound to be altered significantly thereafter—for better or for worse."

Dr. Outler went on, "Most Protestants understand by now, at least, that formally speaking, this council is a family affair within the Roman Catholic Church. We realize that its effect upon the relations between Rome and the rest of the Christian community is largely indirect."

PARTY IN POWER MYTH

Political campaigns in the United States are mostly noted for their exaggerations. We always hope for less of it, but this hope is seldom rewarded by fulfillment.

In World War II, we had to listen to politicians say—most unwisely and unfairly—that a vote for the opposition party would lend aid and comfort to the enemy.

Obviously, we should be able to decide our elections on the basis of our own judgments rather than those of either our friends or our enemies abroad.

This is not, of course, a presidential year. Yet the Kennedy administration's future power, stature and effectiveness naturally are involved in the kind of congressmen, senators, governors and others the people choose Nov. 6.

The administration would be less than human, less than practical if it did not strive to gain a result favorable to its present and future purposes.

Nevertheless, it oversteps the bounds of fairness when either the President himself or any of his key people state or imply that the ouster of Democrats—particularly from governorships—will work hardship on the citizens of the affected states. The cabinet member who tells voters they must install or retain a certain Democrat here or there if they expect any "cooperation" from Washington is deserving of major censure.

If the threat were to be taken literally, it would mean that many existing federal aid programs—long rooted in the law—would be administered for the political benefit of the party in power.

Undoubtedly some programs could be and have been so handled. But many are so tightly governed by statutory provisions that they must be administered impartially—no matter what party runs the state receiving the aid.

To the extent this is so, the threat to voters that an anti-administration vote will cost them help is an empty one.

But the threat should never be made, or even hinted at. Programs to aid the states in matters of welfare, schools, highways, airports, stream pollution and the like are by their very nature designed to be applied with even handed justice to all corners of the United States.

The President of the United States characteristically makes much of the fact—and properly so—that he is the President of all the people, regardless of party. He is not accessible only to Democratic governors, as some of his top officials are now implying. Nor are the laws he administers designed only to help those who voted for him in 1960 and may vote in 1962 for Democratic office-seekers.

If the voting minority must abide by decisions determined by majority vote, they plainly must have all the concern and consideration the winning majority demands for itself.

Let leading Democrats urge the election of Democrats. But let them stop arguing that a vote for a Republican for governor is a vote for some kind of secondary citizenship rooted in presidential disfavor.

The same argument must apply, of course, when positions are reversed and a Republican occupies the White House.

As we get into nippy Saturdays, it will be proved once again that the toughest people on the football field are those girl cheerleaders in short skirts.

CONVIVIAL FAREWELLS

The lady, hollow eyed from sleeplessness, told her husband at breakfast that the next time it happened she'd call the police. As husbands do, he wondered how he had spoiled the new day for her.

"No," she said, "it wasn't you. It was someone a few doors away bidding goodbye at two a. m. to their parting guests. I didn't get back to sleep until five."

We sympathize with her irritation. The booming farewell is thoughtless and all too common. In the aggregate, it must cost millions of hours of sleep annually throughout the nation.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE LONG WAR

This Earth has been at war now for 48 years. We might call it "The Long War." Sooner or later, all of mankind will again be involved in a final battle which no side can win. A phase of this war, called World War II, ended in general failure. There were victors, but they were not those who were militarily victorious. To grasp our essential problem, let us analyze which countries benefited as a result of that war:

1. The Enemy Countries: West Germany was reconstructed principally with American aid and is now economically stronger than the whole of Germany was prior to World War II. The alliance between West Germany and France is historically the most important recent development in Europe.

Japan is, with American reconstruction aid, the most stable and economically sound nation in Asia, certainly on a better basis than in 1931 when she set out to conquer China.

2. Soviet Russia expanded her territory to include all of the Balkan States and East Germany, with a hegemony over Poland and Hungary and with a virtual overlordship of Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Bulgaria. In Asia, Soviet Russia organized China as a Communist state and established an overlordship over Mongolia and Afghanistan.

These are the principal victors of World War II. The United States gained a point in the establishment of the United Nations, but that body is now dominated by African and Asiatic Nations and the United States is more in the position of a suppliant for favors than a masterful voice for universal peace and social justice.

From the standpoint of tangible gains, the United States can point to very little. The principal loss to the United States grows out of the world-wide encirclement policy of Soviet Russia aimed at destroying the United States as a capitalist bulwark. The central point of this policy is Cuba.

Before Soviet Russia actually achieved its goal in Cuba, efforts were made to accomplish the same ends in Mexico, British Guiana, Guatemala, and other places. The efforts failed partially or wholly. Cuba is one of the greatest success stories for international Communism because it could, if not arrested, isolate the United States from most other American countries.

The proof of this statement lies in several facts which are indications of more trouble to come: 1. Canada: Although Canada is locked in with the United States economically, demographically and militarily, Canada set out to profit by the Cuban Communist anti-American policy and has continued to profit by shipping goods to Cuba, by buying Cuban products for export and by maintaining banking relations with Cuba. In fact, Canada has no anti-Communist commercial policy and therefore is a source of embarrassment to the United States.

2. The Organization of American States: This body succeeded to the authority of the Monroe Doctrine but has been timid as regards Cuba because each Latin American country is fearful of its own Communists and of its student bodies. This fear is realistic because these subversive groups disturb political relations. A combination of students, workers, and soldiers could take control of any government.

3. Our own Allies have shown, by their shipping goods to Cuba, that profits mean more than the alliance and that they risk self-impairment for a slight profit. This conforms to Lenin's notion that the capitalists will win the Revolution for the Communists.

The question now arises as to what we can do. Obviously, we can fight our way out of such a situation. Some say that if we take a strong stand, the Russians will back down. What is a strong stand? Logically it is war. Others say, "Blockade Cuba." The fact is that our own Allies have betrayed us and what cannot be shipped can be flown. Besides, all such steps lead to war.

I have not yet seen one suggestion that gives another alternative than war or a negotiated peace. I do not believe that a negotiated peace can be trusted because the Russians will always ask for more. Nevertheless, no one has come forth with a third alternative, with a possible solution except by war or a negotiated peace. If one has a third alternative, not in such words as blockade, which is an act of war, but in techniques that avoid war or a negotiated peace, it would be interesting to see what it is. The Mature Parent

Be Your True Self

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
My 9-year-old boy is having trouble with his arithmetic teacher. Last week she asked me to come to the school and told me that he would have to do better work. Mrs. Lawrence, I said the wrong thing. I said, "Miss Adams, he does good work for his other teachers." She got up from her desk and cut the interview short. I am terribly upset as she is the kind of woman who will take out her spite at me on the child.

ANSWER: Maybe instead of brooding angrily over what you said, she is considering its value. She may be willing, if you approach her again, to help make arrangements by which your youngster can improve his arithmetic marks. But you can't approach her again if you continue to scold yourself for saying the "wrong" thing.

Are you always so distrustful of what you say to other people? We often are if their admiration is essential to us. We have to brood over every word we've spoken to them lest it has conveyed any hint of criticism. If what we have said has in any way fallen short of perfect courtesy and appreciation, we will lose sleep over the terrible possibility of having offended them. Like you, we may even organize our own punishment at the hands of the person to whom we've said the "wrong" thing. Although we may be vaguely aware of this eagerness to find fault with ourselves, we regard it as our special "sensitivity" to the feelings of others.

Actually, it is not. It is our fear of appearing to be less agreeable, less irresistible than we think we ought to be. We worry over saying the "wrong" thing, not because we are genuinely sorry that we may have hurt the other fellow's feelings but because we hate any criticism ourselves—and are sure that the other fellow will hate us as we secretly resent anyone who presumes to criticize us.

It's time, I think that you learned to tolerate yourself as a human being who is as capable of saying the "wrong" thing at one time as she is capable of saying the "right" thing at another. For that's how it is with all of us. If you can recover from your obvious need to impress your child's teacher as an inoffensive and agreeable person, you will be able to ask her for another interview—and present yourself to her as a woman who is not concerned with her admiration but with the improvement of her child's arithmetic marks. WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Vice Admiral Hyman Rickover, known through the Navy as "the kindly old gentleman," was talking on education the other day, when a prominent educator took him to task.

"What experience do you have in education to be continually talking so strongly?" the educator asked Rickover. Said Rickover:

"You don't have to be a hen to know a good egg from a bad one."

MISSOURI CONGRESSMAN

Durward Hall's administrative assistant, Sol Mosher, says "The three branches of the government used to be the executive, judicial and legislative. Since the New Frontier it's Jack, Bobby and Teddy."

FORMER PRESIDENT Harry

Truman hit the campaign circuits recently to "help" Democratic candidates running for office. In Idaho he opened his visit by informing one and all that Nevada was the only black spot on the continent and that legalized gambling was the worst thing in the world. But he told Idahoans "go ahead and do what you damn please."

Democratic candidate for governor Vernor K. Smith—running on a wide-open gambling platform—became so miffed over Truman's blast that he refused Harry's breakfast invitation.

After a few heated verbal exchanges, Truman pronounced candidate Smith a "damn fool" and stormed off to "help" Democratic candidates in other states.

WHEN LABOR SECRETARY

Arthur Goldberg gave a farewell party for his Labor Department associates before taking the oath as an Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, he served the good Kosher delicacy of bagels and lox.

When Goldberg's successor W. Willard Wirtz was asked what he would serve when he leaves office, he replied promptly, "Spareribs and sauerkraut."

MRS. LYNDON B. JOHNSON

at a Women's National Democratic luncheon, told about her recent visit to Lebanon, Iran, Turkey, Cyprus, Greece and Italy, which was crammed into 17 days. What most impressed her was the antiquity of so many of the sights.

She kept asking her guide "How old is this and how old is that?" so often that he finally replied: "Mrs. Johnson, everything here is B.C., except you and me."

PROBABLY THE latest official cocktail party ever held in Washington was the reception which the Latin American foreign ministers gave in honor of U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk. It was supposed to be a 7-to-9 p. m. affair. But it didn't get going till 11 p. m.

Reason for the delay was that the foreign ministers couldn't agree on what to say in their official communiqué after two days of deliberating what to do about Cuba. They didn't finish the drafting job till 10:30. Then they all went to the party.

Not having had anything to eat since lunch, the diplomats were all starved—and thirsty. But the guests they had invited to their affair and who got there on time had to do something while waiting for their hosts to show up. So the freeloaders ate up all the food and kept the bowl flowing.

GEN. MAXWELL TAYLOR who left his job as President

John F. Kennedy's military adviser to become Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was holding his first conference in his new post.

Question: "Sir, at the White House will there be a replacement for you in the same position you held?"

Question: "Sir, if there was a need for you in the White House, why is there not a need for a successor to you over there?"

Taylor: "Well, one answer would be I proved there was nothing I could contribute."

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Hospitalization — The determination of a veteran as to his inability to pay for hospitalization is primarily a matter of personal conscience. It should be an honest determination. However, the law provides that, "the statement under oath of an applicant shall be accepted as sufficient evidence of inability to defray necessary expenses."

Benefits — Three important benefits for Korea veterans with disabilities connected with service are:

Benefit Number One is Disability Compensation; Two, Vocational Rehabilitation; Three, GI Insurance. Korean veterans may apply for disability compensation at any time, as there is no deadline. If the Veterans Administration gets the application within one year from discharge, payments may be back-dated to the first day as a civilian. If a veteran waits longer than a year, payments can become effective only as of the date he applies.

Benefit Number Two is vocational rehabilitation training. The big point here is, a veteran must NEED the training to help him overcome a handicap. While in training, and for two months after, he will get a monthly subsistence allowance as well as compensation payment.

Benefit Number Three for service-disabled Korean veterans is insurance. Regardless of pending legislation to permit a general reinstatement of National Service Life Insurance, service-disabled Korea veterans, in fact, any veteran discharged on or after April 25, 1951, may be permitted by law to take out new GI insurance, if certain legal requirements are met. A veteran must have been discharged on or after April 25, 1951. Also, discharge must have been other than dishonorable. Then, he must generally make application within a year from the time VA says his disability was service-connected.

Legislation — Public Law 87-591 (S. 2869), approved August 16, 1962, effective August 16, 1962, adds a new section to Chapter 31, Title 38, U.S.C. as follows: "1502 A Blinded veterans." This section extends the termination dates for service-connected blinded veterans of World War II and Korean Conflict until June 30, 1975, where:

(1) the veteran has not previously been rehabilitated or (2) his blindness has worsened since he received rehabilitation training so as to prevent him from pursuing his occupation for which he was trained.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston.

Suspension Sets Off Debate Over Morals

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Students and the administration at Cornell University were embroiled today in a heated debate over the university's right to police student morality.

The furor was set off by the university's suspension of a graduate student who allegedly shared his off-campus apartment with a coed from another school.

Neither student was identified. The graduate student was suspended indefinitely Oct. 4 by the Faculty Committee on Student Conduct.

An editorial in the student newspaper, the Cornell Daily Sun, brought the suspension to light. About 100 graduate students met Friday night and called on the university to review the case.

The students' resolution also asked the school to maintain a hands-off attitude on personal morality.

The Sun editorial said, in part, "The moral standards of the U. are in effect very rigid, but enforcement of such rules is almost impossible. The student involved in this incident was not so lucky, and he must pay a bitter price for his crime."

Prof. Robert D. Sweet, chairman of the faculty committee, told the student newspaper that "sexual morality is a legitimate concern of the university faculty."

He defined the issue as one that concerned "overnight, unchaperoned mixed company."

The committee's action was endorsed by Dr. John Summerskill, Cornell vice president for student affairs.

Critics of the university contended that the student code of conduct was vague and designed for undergraduates, rather than graduate students.

The student was suspended under a university rule that reads: "At all times and in all relationships, a Cornell student should conduct himself in a decent and respectable manner."

Reaction around the campus divided sharply. Said Eric F. Craven of The Bronx, a member of the executive board of the student government:

"The administration should stick to filling IBM cards."

Neva Spears, a junior from Nutley, N.J., supported the university. "Does America have a new morality?" she asked.

Robert A. Bonic, an assistant professor of mathematics, commented:

"If a student wishes to go to a football game, a fraternity party, a girl's apartment or rob a bank, then that is either his business or the business of the police."

The suspended student lived in an apartment in College Town, a section adjacent to the campus.

He has the right to appeal the suspension, but the university said it would exercise this right.

Action Put Off

now in effect against the state official, is the basis for the contempt action against Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson Jr.

Meredith Leaves Campus

While the court was deliberating, Meredith left the Oxford, Miss., campus by Border Patrol plane for the weekend. Presumably, he was headed for Memphis, Tenn., where he went last weekend to see his wife.

The campus remained quiet. In order to forestall more violence, however, Dean of Students L. L. Love ordered an immediate end to all demonstrations aimed at Meredith. He warned that violations would "bring immediate and drastic disciplinary action."

The New Orleans court hearing was the second at which Barnett and Johnson were to show they had purged themselves of contempt. They were convicted for their role in barring Meredith from Ole Miss. The court had said affirmative acts were necessary to show they had purged themselves.

Clark and Mississippi Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson contended that Barnett and Johnson were complying with orders now because Meredith is attending Ole Miss. Chief Judge Elbert Tuttle of Atlanta commented that Meredith was "barely" a student there.

Fled From Scene

After the shooting, Rosario fled from the store.

A nearby resident identified as William Goehren heard of the shooting and he ran to the store with a shotgun. Authorities said Rosario appeared across the street from the Handy store with his gun in hand. Goehren forced him at gunpoint to drop the automatic pistol on a lawn. Then Rosario reportedly fled from the scene.

Lester Wager Jr., a Town of Plattkill constable and deputy sheriff learned of the shooting and he hurried to investigate. Wager told a Freeman reporter that he went to LaPan's Chicken farm on Route 32 and saw Rosario in a driveway.

Nabbed by Constable

"He saw me coming," Wager said, and he knew I was after him. Rosario started to run but I overtook him and put my handcuffs on him. I brought him back to the store and turned him over to Troopers Salters and Dayka.

Wager said Rosario's wife, Gloria, was in a house trailer, when he took the defendant in custody. The constable said Rosario put up no resistance when he apprehended him. Rosario would not talk about the shooting, and authorities had not established any motive for the shooting.

Rosario had resided in the Modena area about two and a half years, according to Wager.

No Motive Yet

After his arrest, the accused slayer was taken to the Highland substation of the state police and questioned by authorities for hours, but this morning troopers said the motive for the shooting had not been revealed by the defendant.

Handy and his wife were the victims of a holdup on the night of May 2 when they were in their store. Three men, later identified as Gordon, Henderson and Cobb entered the store and stole about $100 from the cash register. One of the trio, authorities said, struck Handy on the head with a beer bottle and then hit the grocer with a club or baseball bat and a chair.

Handy was taken to Vassar Hospital suffering a cerebral concussion and multiple scalp and body injuries. During the May holdup, Mrs. Handy was struck in the face with a hammer. Her injuries were not considered serious.

Revised Jewish Bible Gives New Interpretation of Torah

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "When God began to create the heaven and earth," begins the new Jewish Bible in one of several striking changes of the book, the first ever translated into modern English directly.

The new Bible, known as "the Torah, the five books of Moses," which will be published Jan. 28, says Moses didn't really cross the Red Sea.

It revises the Third Commandment to condemn perjury, not profanity of God's name.

Dr. Harry M. Orlinsky, editor-in-chief of a committee of Bible scholars who worked eight years on the $250,000 project, said Thursday in announcing the new book that the most striking change is in the revision of the Third Commandment.

Commandment Revised

Formerly, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain," it now reads, "You shall not swear falsely by the name of the Lord thy God for the Lord will not clear one who swears falsely by His name."

Upon arrival here Friday, the archbishop, the Most Rev. Arthur Michael Ramsey, primate of all England, said that he hoped the Ecumenical Council in Rome would achieve "unification in truth."

He added: "It is unrealistic to expect a fundamental change in the Roman Catholic doctrine, but there might be a shifting in proportion of basic issues . . . the council will help if it fully faces up to the things by which the Church of Rome offends the conscience of other Christians."

The archbishop will preach at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine Sunday. The service, evensong and sermon, will begin at 4 p. m.

The Archbishop will be received at the west doors of the Cathedral by the Bishop of New York, the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan.

The military aid part of it, he said, is running at the rate of $200 million for this year.

Also, he asserted, the State Department estimates that Russia will have a $50 million to $70 million trade deficit with Cuba as well as supplying long-term economic aid this year of up to $50 million.

But, Martin declared, this Russian help "is probably just about enough" to keep Cuba's "head above water—at a relatively low level."

Tale of Old Time Doctors Is Related At Club Meeting Here

Twentieth Century Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Maxwell Taylor, 46 Fairmont Avenue, Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller presided.

Members were reminded of the Third District meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs at Williams Lake, October 24, beginning with registration at 9:15 a. m. The following women plan to attend: Mrs. John Pope, Mrs. S. Maxwell Taylor, Mrs. William Soper, Mrs. Herbert W. Rhodes, Mrs. Alexander Goercke, and Miss Frances Osterhout.

Mrs. Goercke, as program chairman, presented Mrs. Swartzmiller who gave a paper on, "I Remember Papa." It was the tale of a child who lived with "a doctor in the house." Mrs. Swartzmiller said: "Treatment of the common cold in the horse and buggy days included internal dosings of cascara sagrada and quinine, external applications of lard and turpentine to the throat and possibly a flaxseed poultice to the chest, depending upon the severity of the respiratory infection. These were the days when the 50 cent fee one paid for an office call included any required medication, compounded on the spot by this compassionate servant of humanity. This is, if the fee were paid at all. Butter, eggs, or fruit brought in over a period of years was not unusual payment for some bills."

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Warren Russell, 46 Burgevin Street on October 22 at 7:30 p. m. and will feature a Halloween party.

MONTEUX EXPLAINS THE FLUTE—Claude Monteux, musical director of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, as he explains the flute to two students attending a recent in-school concert. More than 30 such concerts have already been signed for the Hudson Valley area. Eight of these will be given in Ulster County, the first at Meagher School, Winkoop Place on Thursday, Oct. 18 at 8 p. m. There is no admission charge to these concerts.

Philharmonic In-School Concerts Slated To Start October 18 at Meagher School

A quartet of musicians from the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society will present an in-school concert at the Meagher School, Winkoop Place, on Thursday, Oct. 18 at 8 p. m., under the sponsorship of the P-TA Council, Kingston Consolidated School System.

Claude Monteux, musical director of the Philharmonic, will be present to acquaint the audience with the in-school concert program and how it can be made available to the schools.

Twenty-two thousand children in public, private and parochial schools throughout six counties in the Hudson Valley have already experienced these programs of fine classical music.

Parents and their children are invited to attend the concerts which are free of charge.

Among those Philharmonic members participating in the October 18 concert will be Karen Ranung, vocalist; Gae Galza, horn; and James Coover, percussionist.

In a statement about the in-school concerts, Mr. Monteux said:

"We believe that children are naturally eager to experience good music. These school concerts present the best in classical music chosen for its educational value and appeal to young listeners. Music and instruments are played, discussed and demonstrated with consideration given to the age and musical experience of the audience. The programs are conducted informally and a close relationship is established by the musicians with the audience in a friendly, relaxed atmosphere.

"A question period comes about midway in each concert. From this intimate contact with a live musical program, children learn that the audience is a vital part of a performance. For many of the children, this has been their first introduction to the world of classical music."

Chairman of the in-school concerts is Mrs. Robert MacKinnon of Hurley. Assisting her are Leo Kilcoyne, president of the Ulster Council, Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society; Donald Slater, Kingston; Mrs. Roger Mabie, Port Ewen; Miss Anne Dwyer, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, Kingston; and Edward Green, Stone Ridge. It has been reported that more than 30 schools in the area have already requested in-school concerts. Eight of these concerts will be given in the Ulster County area.

Ticket Campaign

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic in Ulster County is still conducting its ticket campaign. Three concerts will be given for the 1962-63 season.

Tickets are available by writing to: Philharmonic, Box No. 1, Uptown Post Office, Kingston, New York.

Mrs. Nancy Hunter Eligible to Practice In Therapy Field

Mrs. Nancy Hunter of Berkeley, Calif., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oskar Larsen of Stone Ridge, has passed the national registration examination qualifying her to practice the profession of occupational therapy, the American Occupational Therapy Association announced today.

Mrs. Hunter joins the ranks of more than 5,000 men and women who are entitled to write the initials, O.T.R., (Occupational Therapist, Registered) after their name. A relatively new profession, occupational therapy is a field in which the demand for services is three times greater than the number of persons in the field. Occupational therapists give treatment on the doctor's prescription in the form of supervised activity to people injured physically or mentally by accident or disease. They work in general and psychiatric hospitals, medical installations of the Armed Services and Veterans Administration, in rehabilitation centers, curative workshops, schools and homes for the handicapped, aged, deaf and the blind.

Mrs. Hunter was graduated from the curriculum in occupational therapy at New York University, School of Education, one of the 29 colleges in the United States offering programs in occupational therapy approved by the American Medical Association.

Carol Ann Dean, Ronald Joseph Spadafora Exchange Marriage Vows at St. Mary's

MR. AND MRS. RONALD J. SPADAFORA (Ideal photo)

On Saturday, Oct. 6 at 12 o'clock in St. Mary's Church, Kingston, marriage vows were exchanged by Carol Ann Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Dean Sr., Malden-on-Hudson, and Ronald Joseph Spadafora, son of Mrs. Dolores Krum of Kingston.

Officiating was the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Theodore Riccobono was at the organ and Angelo Corrado was the soloist. Mr. Dean gave his daughter in marriage and escorted her to the altar decorated with white gladioli. She wore a French lace gown in chapel length styled with fitted bodice, bateau neckline trimmed with iridescent sequins and a bouffant skirt. Her tiara of pearls and crystals held an elbow length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white gladioli and stephanotis with white velvet ribbon.

Miss Angela Petrone of Poughkeepsie served as maid of honor in a satin dress of willow green. Styled along sheath lines, the dress featured a bouffant length overskirt. She wore a matching headband and carried yellow Fuji mums.

Wearing the same styled gowns as the maid of honor except in copper glow, were the bridesmaids, the Misses Barbara Bennett of Lake Katrine, Judith Hetherich of Poughkeepsie and Denica Vladich of Lake Katrine. Charles N. DeCicco of Washington, D. C. was best man. Ushering were Thomas A. Bowman, Donald P. Robbins and Robert F. Burgstaller.

Migrant Committee Work Is Discussed At B&P Meeting

C. Kenneth Taber, chairman of the Migrant Committee for Ulster County, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of the YWCA this past week. Mr. Taber is a resident of the county who has himself employed migrant workers and could speak with full knowledge of his subject. He augmented his talk with color slides.

Mr. Taber stated programs in behalf of the migrants are sponsored jointly by the National and State Council of Churches. The Councils are vitally interested because they want to know what kind of American citizens and what kind of Christians these people will become. Nationally, there are one-half million migrants of whom about 30,000 are employed in New York State and about 3,000 in Ulster County. In this area, Mr. Taber said, they work mostly on the fruit farms. Since the Hudson Valley is such an important apple producing region and local seasonal labor is not available, it has become necessary to introduce the migrant worker. In this area they are largely composed of southern Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Jamaicans. Some of the migrants arrive early in the season to help with the tree spraying, others come later to pick cherries, but the bulk of them come for the apple harvest. The hiring farmer usually provides housing for his workers but other recreational, educational and church activities are provided by the Council of Churches.

Working with the Council, the County Committee provides, at various times, chaplain services, vacation church schools, child care centers and summer schools for the children. Mr. Taber concluded his talk by stating the greatest need at this time is for a supervised recreation center.

A business meeting, conducted by President Jeanne Snyder, was held. Plans for future programs were discussed with program chairman, Bertha Waterman, and it was announced that next week Ruth Clair will speak on "British Guinea" where she had spent a recent vacation.

Miss Evelyn Thomas announced the World Fellowship Committee, of which she is chairman, will hold its annual program on Sunday, November 11. Mrs. Frank Booth, executive director of the YW also spoke of future YWCA programs.

Wooden Floor Keeps Its Beauty If Maintained

By MR. FIX
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

No other flooring material has quite the charm and warmth of wood. But though the material is reasonably durable, it needs care and maintenance. Wood floors are subject to cracking, warping, dents, stains and discolorations. They may sag and creak.

In most homes, floors consist of two layers. The bottom is the sub-floor which can be rough lumber or sheets of plywood. This is nailed directly to the floor joists.

Over the sub-floor, and generally separated by a layer of building paper, is the finish floor, generally of hardwood. The finish floor runs at right angles to the sub-floor and is nailed directly to it.

What Creaks?

When a floor creaks it generally indicates that nails holding the sub-floor to the joists have become loose.

If the sub-floor is exposed (as in the ceiling of a basement,) drive wedges between the joist and the loose flooring.

Another method to brace a larger area is to cut a 2x4 or 2x6 so that it fits snugly between joists. Drive this brace into place and nail to the joists.

You also can nail wooden cleats to the top of the joists so that the top surface of the cleat supports the floor.

Second Story Job

If you cannot reach the underside of the floor you will have to cure the problem from above. Tap the floor until the sound indicates you have found a joist near the area that creaks. Drive finishing nails at an angle through both floors and into the joist. Don't drive the nail all the way.

As the head nears the surface, finish the job with a nail set, driving it below the surface and filling the hole with wood putty and staining it.

Sometimes the trouble is in the finish floor itself. This will require careful re-nailing to the sub-floor.

Cracks Look Bad

Sometimes cracks develop, marring the looks of a floor. Use a mixture of sawdust and glue to fill these. Clean out the cracks first or the filler will not adhere. Fill the crack so that it is slightly higher than the rest of the floor. Then sand, stain and finish to match the rest of the floor.

Rubber heels, casters and such items discolor floors. Moisten a cloth with turpentine or solvent and rub. This treatment may remove some of the finish. Finish cleaning the area with steel wool, then coat with clear shellac.

Burns and gouges may need more drastic treatment. Cut out the area with a chisel and fill with plastic wood. Sand and refinish.

Warping may cause some boards to be slightly higher than the surrounding surface. Sanding and refinishing may be all that is required. Otherwise soak them (a towel soaked in warm water will do it) and pull them back into position with screws or nails driven into the sub-floor.

exterior. Multi-colored roofing can be used to good advantage.

Measurements
Exclusive of the utility-laundry wing and the attached garage, measurements of the house are 38 by 26 feet. Overall measurements are 69 feet. Cubage of the main house is 20,300 feet; total cubage is 29,300 feet. To build this house complete with the attached garage you'll need at least a 90-foot lot.

There are two front entrances. The main entrance leads into a small hall opening on the living room; the other leads to the breakfast porch.

Living Room
Very pleasant with its large window area, fireplace and built-in bookshelves, the living room is the largest of the rooms. Hence, if you so desire, it can easily double as a dining room. This arrangement will be especially convenient if you need three bedrooms. And the fact that the breakfast porch will be such an enjoyable spot in which to eat many family meals will make this arrangement even more convenient.

In the kitchen proper there also is a small breakfast nook which is ideally located not only for your family's first meal of the day, but also for those between-meal snacks and after school lunches for the youngsters. The rest of the kitchen is planned and equipped as a work center where the housewife will find everything she needs close at hand.

Bedrooms
All three of the rooms which are designed as bedrooms are well lighted and ventilated. Each features excellent closet space. The bath is located conveniently near to all the sleeping rooms. And, the large linen closet is handy to both bedrooms and bath.

Throughout the house there is ample storage space—including a large broom closet in the utility-laundry room. And, if you have but one car you can put the extra space in the two-car garage to use for storage purposes. Easy access is provided to the yard from the laundry-utility room—a point you'll appreciate when you're hanging out the family laundry.

The Old Well In the heart of the University of North Carolina campus at Chapel Hill is the Old Well, symbol of the University and center for its outdoor "pep" meetings. Four-year old Robby was stroking his cat before the fire in perfect contentment. The cat, also happy, began to purr loudly. Robby gazed at her for awhile, then suddenly seized her by the tail and dragged her roughly away from the hearth. Mother — You mustn't hurt your kitty, Robby. Robby — I'm not, but I've got to get her away from the fire. She's beginning to boil.

GOP Chairman Named In Million Damage Suit

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller has been named in a notice of claim for $1 million in damages filed by a man who spent 12 years in a mental hospital after he was charged with murder.

Rep. Miller was Niagara County district attorney in 1950 when the claimant, John J. R. Butler, 50, of Niagara Falls, was indicted on a first-degree murder charge in the strangulation death of Mrs. Lillian "Bordeau."

Butler's attorney, Arthur A.

Snyder of New York City, said Friday the notice of claim is preliminary to suit against a city or county. Named with Miller were another former district attorney, Jack Gellman of Niagara Falls, and two Niagara Falls policemen, as well as Niagara County.

A second notice of claim, also for $1 million, was filed against the City of Niagara Falls, and the two policemen, Capt. George Cruikshank and Lt. Thomas Herlihy.

Butler was never tried. Adjudged insane, he was sent to Matteawan State Hospital in 1950, but was released last March. He was returned here to stand trial, but freed when the district attorney's office said it no longer had evidence against him. The office said the shorthand notes of a stenographer on the grand-jury minutes could not be deciphered and the stenographer had since died.

In his notice of claim, Butler charged that Miller, Gellman and the two policemen were "grossly negligent and careless" in their investigation, and they failed to interview material witnesses who could have established his innocence.

Mrs. Bordeaux, wife of a friend of Butler, was found in her yard with a piece of frayed rope knotted around her neck.

Speakers at the dinner in Tommy's Restaurant, 11 High Street, lauded his record of service which won him the award of Patrolman of the Year in 1961. His courtesy to the public, consideration for youngsters, elderly citizens and 24-hour-a-day devotion to his job earned him the distinction of being a policeman for new members of the force to emulate. In his youth he was one of the area's accomplished baseball players, along with his brother, the late Police Lieutenant William J. Leonard. At the guest table were (l-r) President John R. Crespinio of the KPA, Edward J. Leonard, guest of honor; Peter J. Keresman, a past president of the association and former secretary of the New York State Police Conference, who was toastmaster; the Rev. Arthur E. Schwenk; Dr. William Dean, police commissioner; Charles Phinney, retired chief of the Kingston Police Department, guest speaker, and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, which the retired patrolman attends.

SHOKAN — Former Ashokan Reservoir Department employees calling in the village recently included Fritz Merkle of Beech Street, Wantagh, L. I., who was accompanied by his wife and M. B. Koster, a Belmore, L. I. contractor. Merkle while working for the city about 13 years ago, resided in the Lester Lawrence tenant bungalow on Route 28.

Morton Hendrickson Jr. with his wife and their children, Lynn, Susan and Robert, now make their home in Harrisburg, Pa. His brother, Kenneth, who attended the Shokan School and Reformed Church while living here, is located in Glen Oaks, Queens, L. I. He has two children, James and Glenn.

Lewis Thiel, Shokan's oldest resident, is living at the Hutton nursing home in Kingston.

Hilda Herdman, recently appointed a clerk-typist at Ontario School reportedly will reside at Boiceville.

The Ashokan Reservoir water level rose more than six inches as a result of the rainy spell. This is pretty good, considering that several million gallons a day has passed through the aerator and into New York City's pipe line.

Julian Fishburne, his wife and two children of New Paltz were in town Thursday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Fishburne's father, A. E. Pickard of Orlando, Fla., who is making a trip to Newfoundland.

Having a birthday Oct. 15 is Mrs. Bernard Casablanca who has a summer home in Shokan. The Washington Heights matron has been coming to this section more than 20 years. She attended George Washington High School, Barnard College and Columbia University.

Lewis Ocker of the Lake Hill area was in town recently. Ocker, employee of a Wittenberg well drilling concern, reports that his father, Edward Ocker Sr., Shandaken Spanish-American War veteran and one time resident of Shokan, is active and in fair health at the age of 86 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newell will be leaving soon for their annual winter's sojourn in Florida. John Messina and family whose home is the old Winchell farmhouse along the East Butternutkill, had no water supply worries at all during the long drought. A driven well put down three years ago alongside their kitchen door has been flowing above ground ever since.

Arquette Claims Gypsy Life Over

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The gypsy life of Cliff Arquette has led him back to California, this time to stay.

That's what he says, anyway. But you never can tell about Cliff. Life has been one continuous surprise for him.

Cliff is that old fustbudget of Jack Paar fame, Charlie Weaver. But Charlie is not Cliff, if you get what I mean. Cliff himself is a razor-sharp, jolly fellow who seems to fuss not at all.

Cliff-Charlie now appears every Saturday night on the new Roy Rogers variety show over ABC-TV. For Arquette it is a return to the area where he spent the bulk of his performing years.

"I guess I was out here about 30 years in all," he recalled. "For a while I was following radio wherever it went. I started in Chicago when the big action was there. Then it moved to New York and I went with it. Then back to Chicago, then out to Hollywood."

Longtime Californians remember his many characterizations on local and network radio shows; my favorite was a lovable old bag named Aunt Addy.

"I was always playing old men and old women," he laughed. "I used to say some day I would grow into those roles. Now I just about have!"

His crew-cut white hair and Santa Claus belly are the only indications, however. He looks totally different and many years younger when not in his Charlie Weaver get-up.

Cliff had been retired for a couple of years when Jack Paar asked him to come on his late-night show. Four highly successful years followed. When Paar quit the show, so did Cliff. He has no plans to return to it, nor to Paar's new weekly show.

Pine Bush Beats Onteora, 26-6, in UCAL Grid Struggle

New Paltz Soccer Team Tops Buffalo, 3-1, for 3rd Straight

Fumbles and Interceptions Hurt Indians

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Onteora Central gridders played "fumbles" with the football at Dietz Stadium last night. As a result, they were dealt a 26-6 UCAL setback by visiting Pine Bush as the winners took advantage of eight bobbles and a pair of pass interceptions to roll to their advantage.

Pine Bush scored twice in the first half, once the result of a recovered fumble and the other after an intercepted pass. They tallied their third touchdown on a sustained march and moments later, added a final score after another Onteora bobble. The Indians scored midway through the final period on a 67-yard drive.

The Indians set the pattern early in the game when they started a drive from the 25. After making a pair of first downs, they fumbled on the Pine Bush 42 and tackle Dave Wedlick of the visitors pounced on it.

The winners marched to the 19, only to lose the ball on downs. They were handed it back three plays later via the fumble route again with halfback Mark Soss recovering on the OCS 32. Again, the Indians stiffened, taking over on downs on the 20.

Guess what happened? You're right — the home side bobbled again and Pine Bush recovered on the 12. This time the visitors weren't to be denied. They stormed the 12 yards in only two plays with Soss going the final seven on a plunge through the middle of the line. The PAT attempt was smothered.

Interception Thwarts Bid
Onteora came storming back. The Indians of Central Boh Ryan moved for a first down on the first play of the second period. However, the inevitable happened. A pass was intercepted by Dan Biernemann, the powerful fullback. He was brought down on the OCS 48 and from there it took Pine Bush 11 plays to score. Reserve halfback Gene Phillip brought it over from the right and Biernemann booted the point.

The visitors had another chance to score late in the first half after recovering another fumble, this one on the 43. However, quarterback George Loveless intercepted a pass in the end zone and ran it out to the 20 on the final play of the half.

Biernemann carried the third quarter kickoff from the 25 to the 41 and the flashy visitors then moved 59 yards in 13 plays. Soss and Biernemann did most of the carrying with Dan bulging his way over from the one. He booted the PAT for a 20-0 lead.

Another Fumble
On the first play from scrimmage after they had put the pigskin in play on the 30, the Indians were charitable again. They fumbled and the Bushmen recovered on the OCS 46. This time TD with Biernemann again doing the honors with a one yard plunge up the middle. Phillips was the big ground gainer in this drive, carrying four times. The Onteora forward wall blocked the extra point attempt.

Eric Stoutenburg, a hero in defeat, almost personally sent the Indians into the scoring column. He carried seven times in their 67 yard drive, capped when John Philan went over from the one. Eric's longest gainers were for 12 and 14 yards.

The Indians had one more chance to score when an onside kick was recovered by Jay Molyneux on the 40. After a 15 yard penalty had shoved the pigskin into Pine Bush territory, Richard Anklin intercepted a pass on the 38 to thwart the final bid.

McClure Seeking Recognition in TV Bout Tonight

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure may be ready for a ranking among the middleweight division's top ten after only 12 pro fights.

The test is No. 12 tonight. That's when the talented, 23-year-old soldier from Toledo, Ohio, takes on strong-jawed, experienced Gomeo Brennan of Bimini, Bahamas, in a television (ABC TV, 9 p.m. EST) 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

McClure, the Olympic light middleweight champion of 1960, is undefeated in 11 pro fights, winning five of them by knockouts. In his debut as a Garden and television featured fighter he upset able Farid Salim of Argentina.

Because of that victory over a tested foe, the 6-foot Army private has been made the 11-5 choice over Brennan, also 23 but far more experienced.

Brennan, a compact 160-pounder with an aggressive style, has fashioned a 52-6-5 record, including 27 knockouts. He never has been stopped. Gomeo's style may cause trouble for the jabbing, combination-punching McClure. Brennan hangs away with both hands and likes to punish an opponent's body.

McClure, who is stationed at Fort Devens, Mass., will be making his last start in this country for some time. He is scheduled to go overseas next Wednesday.

Navy Tackle Will Miss Cornell Tilt

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy football coach Wayne Hardin says right tackle Mike Burns will not start on the Middles' two-way unit in today's game against Cornell.

He said Burns, who replaced Charles Durepo in the starting lineup earlier this week, had been running a temperature and had not practiced with the team the past several days.

Burns will be replaced by Durepo who started in last Saturday's clash against Minnesota. The Navy coach also said Sophomore Jim Freeman will be a definite starter at left tackle on the two-way unit, replacing senior Marlboro Central was dumped from the unbeaten ranks yesterday, losing a UCAL tilt to visiting Walkill, 24-13. Big Eddie Mooney, the talented quarterback, passed for the touchdowns and scored one himself in leading Walkill to the decision.

The Ducks scored in the first period when Angelo Monte went in from the four to climax a long drive. Vince Caserto then ran for the extra point.

That margin held up until the second period when Tom Appuzo of the visitors went five yards for a touchdown. The visitors then moved ahead shortly before halftime with Mooney tossing a 40 yard scoring pass to Ronnie Mullen, one of the three sopho-

Packers, Skins Are Favored in Pro Tilts

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins, only unbeaten teams in the National Football League, are favored to keep it that way Sunday, but the favorite tag looks more formidable on the Packers.

Green Bay, 4-0 and in first place in the Western Conference, travels to play the winless Minnesota Vikings (0-4) and is a three-touchdown favorite to whip a team it beat 34-7 in the season's first game.

Washington takes its Cinderella act to St. Louis to play the Cards (1-3), one of 11 three victors to date. The astounding Skins, who won a total of two games—the past two seasons, are first in the Eastern Conference, with a 3-0-1 mark.

Should either fall, the challengers seem ready to move up.

Detroit's Lions (3-1) are tied with Chicago for second place in the West and are favored to take the Los Angeles Rams (0-4). The Bears are slight choices over the Hawks Scheduled For Contest at Fredonia Today

After spotting the home team a goal later in the opening session, the unbeaten Hawks of the State College at New Paltz won their third consecutive soccer victory, topping Buffalo, 3-1, yesterday at the upstate field.

The victory came on the first game of a two-day road trip. The Hawks are slated to play at Fredonia this afternoon in a bid for their fourth straight victory.

Joe Moschner of the home side broke a scoreless tie by putting one into the nets at the 20:25 mark of the opening period. The margin lasted for exactly ten seconds as Richie Lotz of the Hawks, picked the ball up at midfield and went in all alone.

Late in the second period, the visitors went ahead for keeps as Dee Winter took a pass from Charles Hatner and booted the ball into the nets. The goal came after the Hawks of Coach Al Miller had massed four straight shots.

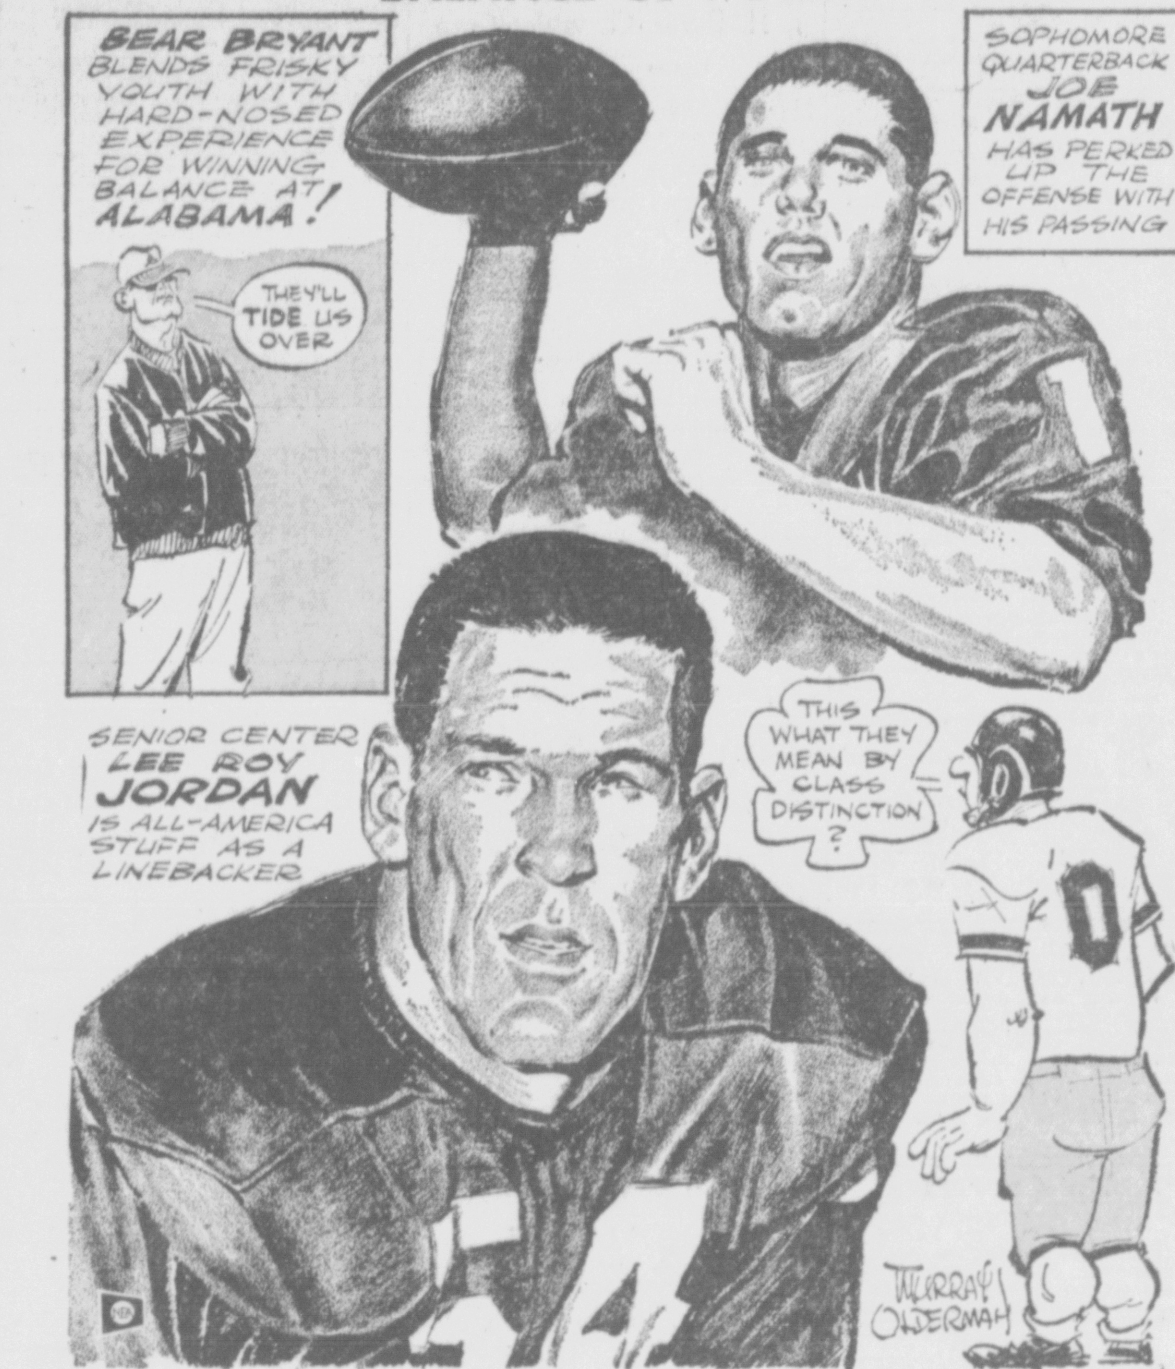

Kisia Alenga finished the scoring for the afternoon with a corner kick at the 21:56 mark of the second period. The boot hit a Buffalo defender and bounced into the net.

Goalie Tom Clark of the Hawks had a good day in the nets. He was credited with 13 saves.

Snead-Mitchell Combo Makes Redskins Appear to Be Real

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Maybe it's time to realize the Washington Redskins are for real.

The key to the rise of the Skins is pass protection. When they got drubbed by the Los Angeles Rams in early August in their first pre-season game, Norm Snead was dumped for 106 yards lost trying passes.

When they beat the Rams for their third straight victory in regular season play (only a tie with Dallas mars the record), Snead was collared only once behind the line of scrimmage. Snead has reached maturity in his second season as a pro. Perhaps equally evident in the improvement of the club was the addition of Bobby Mitchell from Cleveland as the flanker back.

The trickiest open field runner in football, he finally gave the Skins a guy who could break any game open. He did that to get the tie with the Cowboys, upset his old Brown teammates and shuffle by the St. Louis Cardinals, scoring five touchdowns. When not catching the football, Mitchell opens the alley for

Cupit, Hill Tied for First In Bakersfield Golf Tourney

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Two of professional golf's younger performers were still in the control seat today as Jacky Cupit and Dave Hill led the way into the third round of the $40,000 Bakersfield Open.

Cupit, a refreshing 24-year-old ex-caddie from Longview, Tex., whacked his way into the act with a 6-under-par 66 for a 36-hole total of 135.

Hill, 25, from Jackson, Mich., who led the first round with a 67, stayed in the picture with a 69 and a tie with Cupit.

Deadlocked at 137 as play resumed over the 6,624 yard, par 36-72 Bakersfield Country Club course, were three other relative strangers to prominence.

They were California's Tony Lema of San Leandro and Jimmy Powell of Yorba Linda, both with 69s, and the more seasoned campaigner, Mason Roudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., who had a 67.

Cupit surged into the co-leader with a round of four birdies and one eagle. He sank a 35-foot putt on the 16th for an eagle 2.

There was a three-way tie at 138 between Tommy Jacobs, of Bermuda Dunes, and Pete Brown, Detroit, who had 68s Friday, and Bob Pratt of Las Vegas, with a 69.

Tournament followers had to look deeper for such better-known players as Gene Littler, Billy Casper Jr., Billy Maxwell, Mike Sou-chak and others.

Managers Pick Same Hurlers For 6th Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—An all-night rain imperiled the already delayed sixth game of the World Series between the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees today.

Even before the downpour began Friday, the Weather Bureau announced there was a "60 to 70 per cent" chance of rain today with one to two inches expected to fall on already drenched Candlestick Park before scheduled game time.

"It will take four or five days for the field to become perfectly dry even if we had no more rain," said Matty Schvabe Jr., head of the grounds crew.

The sixth game originally was scheduled for Friday, but baseball commissioner Ford Frick called it off at 8:45 a.m.

The rain not only dampened the spirits of the players of both teams who have become bored sitting round in their rooms or hotel lobbies, but even the rival managers were becoming irritated.

Seeks Indoor Work
Yankee manager Ralph Houk, concerned that his hitters might become rusty, was seeking an indoor fieldhouse where his athletes would be able to lamber up should today's game be officially postponed until Sunday.

"We haven't been doing much hitting in the series as it is," said Houk, "but this layoff is bound to hurt their timing even more."

Despite their lack of hitting, the Yankees have won three of the five games played so far and need one more victory to clinch their 20th world championship in the last 40 years.

Alvin Dark, bedded by a heavy cold, didn't like the postponement either, but saw one ray of sunshine through the heavy clouds.

"I kept hoping we would be able to play," said the Giant skipper between sniffs. "Our players were up for it and my pitcher, Billy Pierce, was fit and ready. He will be my pitcher Saturday, too, if we can get the game in."

"The postponement has provided us with one advantage, anyway. Now I am in position to pitch Jack Sanford in the seventh game with his normal three days rest. I had been considering both Sanford and Billy O'Dell. I may use O'Dell in relief of Pierce if the occasion calls for it."

Houk, too, planned to go with his original selection, Whitey Ford.

Ford to Hurl
"Ford is my sixth game pitcher no matter when the game is played," he said. "I don't see how the rain could have given the advantage to either team. I know Dark will now have Sanford available, if there is a seventh game. By the same token, Ralph Terry, who defeated Sanford in the fifth game last Wednesday, also will be available in the seventh game."

This World Series threatened to be the most drawn out since the 1911 series between the Giants and Philadelphia Athletics. That series lasted 13 days, from Oct. 14 through Oct. 26. Rain held up the last three games between the 1911 series between the Giants

U.S. Golfers Amateur Champs

By ALAN CLINE
KAWANA, Japan (AP)—American amateur golfers, putting on the pressure in the final 18 holes, retained the Eisenhower Cup Saturday by whipping a surprisingly strong Canadian team by eight strokes over-all in the third World Amateur Golf Team Championship.

Deane Beman, already a veteran at international golf at 24, led the four-man U.S. team in thwarting a Canadian challenge with a brilliant 66 on the difficult par-70 ocean-rimmed Fuji course.

Dick Sikes, America's public links champion, finished with a 69 and National Amateur Champion Labron Harris Jr. had a 70, giving the Americans a 205 Saturday total and a 72-hole team total of 854 strokes.

The Canadians, beginning the final round two strokes behind, got 68s from Gary Cowan, the tournament's low individual shooter, and Bob Wylie, who had been off his game until the final round, and a 73 from former Canadian amateur champion Nick Weslock.

Canada's four-round total was 862. In the world team competition, four men play for each nation, but only the three lowest scores are counted in the team's daily total.

The combined Britain-Ireland team placed third with 874 and New Zealand was fifth with 882. Trailing them were Mexico with 887, Formosa with 892, Australia with 892, South Africa with 896, Japan with 902 and Argentina with 905.

Pierce, Sanford Tough at Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Billy Pierce and Jack Sanford, aces of the San Francisco Giants pitching staff, are the epitome of home town ball players.

In Sanford's last two seasons and Pierce's one year with the Giants, they've compiled an incredible 35-2 record at Candlestick Park.

Sanford, the likely Giants starter if the Series goes to a seventh game, is 15-1 at home this year and was 8-1 in 1961.

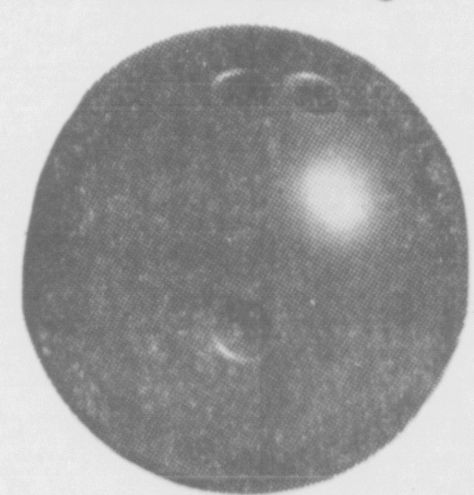

On the road, they're different pitchers. Including World Series games, Pierce is 4-7 with the Giants and Sanford is 15-15 for the past two years.

now must ease off, then get back to a razor-sharp edge.

The promoters, however, were not overly disappointed. Their attraction has been buried under a deluge of World Series publicity. While they maintained the fight would be a success anyway, Rothschild admitted the delay would probably pour extra money into the coffers.

Catholics Defer Commission Vote

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Roman Catholic prelates from the far corners of the earth gathered at St. Peter's Basilica in a heavy downpour today to begin the task of reshaping the church to meet the urgent new demands of the nuclear age.

The first working session of the Ecumenical Council was unexpectedly brief. The meeting broke up after only one hour without taking up the first item of business—election of 10 commissions to debate wide-ranging issues that Pope John XXIII has asked the 2,700 prelates to study.

Achille Cardinal Lienart, bishop of Lille, France, proposed the delay, saying the council fathers needed more time to become better acquainted to that they could better judge the best candidates for the commissions.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French-born dean of the College of Cardinals, presided at the opening session, which the Pope did not attend.

The council fathers will meet again Tuesday, presumably to start voting for members of the commissions.

The voting was to have ended Oct. 20, but it appeared likely that it would last longer and that actual council debates would not get under way until late this month.

Susquehanna Wants In On NYC Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad, aiming to erase recent deficits, wants to be included in any merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

The railroad made the request Friday in a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Commission examiners will resume hearings next week on the proposed merger.

The Susquehanna said it could eliminate recent deficits by additional revenues it would realize if included in the merger.

The Susquehanna also said its exclusion from the merger would result in heavy traffic losses, leaving the road incapable of rendering service in the public interest.

$24,500,000 Israel Matured Bonds to Be Redeemed Soon

Herman G. Rafalowsky, general chairman of the Israel bond program in the Kingston area for 1962, declared this week that great enthusiasm has greeted the announcement by the State of Israel that the government of Israel will shortly redeem $24,500,000 in matured Israel bonds.

"Many persons in Kingston own bonds from the year 1951 which will soon be redeemed," the chairman said. "We hail the redemption as proof of the State of Israel's continued progress toward economic self sufficiency." The chairman said that the great tasks ahead for Israel involve the development of the Negev Desert area, the absorption of thousands of immigrants now streaming into Israel from many corners of the world, the building of homes for these people and giving them jobs and rehabilitating many of these newcomers. He noted that all these tasks are the work of Israel bonds.

Rafalowsky announced that a large number of Kingston residents will attend the special Israel celebration Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Streifer, Old Hurley, during which a reception will be held.

Emil Cohen, celebrated Jewish American humorist, and folk artist, will be the guest. He has a long career of show business work in supper clubs from coast to coast and recently completed a stay at the Grossinger Panchouse in Miami.

Rafalowsky said that the sale of Israel bonds will continue in Kingston through October.

Enrollment Set For Coast Guard New OCS Classes

Applications from qualified college graduates are now being accepted for Coast Guard officer candidate classes which will convene in February and September of 1963 at the Coast Guard Reserve Training Center in Yorktown, Va.

Initial applications for the February class should be made as soon as possible. Those selected will receive 17 weeks of intensive training in nautical and military sciences including courses in navigation, seamanship, Coast Guard orientation, and military bearing.

Men between the ages of 21 and 26, who will possess Baccalaureate Degrees upon acceptance to the program and have vision of at least 20/50 corrected to 20/30 in each eye should call or visit the Coast Guard Reserve Office, Room 621, U. S. Custom House, New York 4.

Qualification tests are given each week day at 8:45 a. m. Appointments are not necessary.

Monaco in Gentle Squeeze by France In Tax Squabble

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—France put a gentle economic squeeze on this tiny Mediterranean principality today to show it means business in a tax fight between the two countries.

Three customs agents were posted on one road crossing the western frontier of Monaco. They put up a discreet little sign saying "douane" (customs) and stopped cars going into France.

"Anything to declare?" the agents asked the motorists. Most of the travelers were tourists passing through Monaco and they continued on without any apparent trouble. As far as could be determined, no cars were being searched by the customs agents.

President Charles de Gaulle's government is irritated because many French corporations and 7,000 French citizens have found a tax haven in Monaco, which has no income tax.

Dentist's Parley

New York dentists will join their colleagues from all over the United States and Latin America at the 103rd annual session of the American Dental Association, being held Oct. 29-Nov. 1, in Miami Beach, Fla. It is expected that Central and South American attendance will reach 1,000; total attendance is anticipated to be 15,000. The Association last met in Miami Beach in 1957.

Heading the delegation from New York will be 25 dentists from the down state area who have been designated to serve as members of the Association's House of Delegates, the organization's policy-making body.

Education Board Highlights Given

At the Wednesday night meeting of the Saugerties Central Schools Board of Education several subjects of importance were discussed following the executive session which resulted in the appointment of Anthony Rizzio, of Glasco, to the board to fill the unexpired term of the late Charles Riccardi, as reported on Thursday.

A complete resume of the actions taken at the open meeting of the board follows:

Next week, Wednesday, several members of the Board will attend the Ulster County School Board Association meeting in Ellenville. Those planning to attend include: Robert Herb, president; Jack O. Pakanan, Harry Hoffman Jr., and Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools.

No selection of a candidate to act as director of the adult education program in the local school system was made by the board at their meeting this week. Superintendent Morse is currently the director of the program, with Leon MacLaughlin acting as assistant to the director.

Robert Herb, president of the board, was elected by his fellow Board members as the voting delegate to represent them at the annual meeting of the New York State School Boards Association, which is being held in Syracuse Oct. 21, 22 and 23. Other members of the board who plan to attend include Jack O. Pakanan and Henry Breitenbach. The group will be accompanied by Superintendent Morse.

Gerald Snyder, treasurer of the district, reported that the school district will suffer a tax loss of $1392.85, as a consequence of duplicate assessment on 11 parcels of property, by the town assessors.

Through Tuesday, Oct. 9, school tax collector William A. Woestendeck reported collecting $569,567.45. The school tax rate this year is $70.97, which is $3.75 cents less than the school tax rate last year.

The board of education adopted an official grievance policy for personnel serving the district. The policy entails no substantial change from previous practice, which provides for final review by the board of education, of a grievance which has not been satisfactorily solved by members of the administrative staff.

Dave Hildebrandt, building superintendent, reported to the Board on his attendance in July, at the conference at Oswego, for school building and grounds personnel.

Columbiettes Set Breakfast Plans

Plans for the annual communion breakfast of the Saugerties Council Columbiettes 4536, were discussed at the Wednesday night meeting of the society at the Knights of Columbus Club House, Barclay Heights.

Dorothy Topple, chairman of the event, reported that the members will attend the 8:30 a. m. Mass at St. John's Church, Veterans, Oct. 28 with breakfast following in the church hall. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Daniel Gelin, AA. The Rev. Daniel Daley, pastor of the church and chaplain of the Columbiettes, will be the celebrant of the Mass.

Members of the Holy Name Society of St. John's will serve the breakfast. All Catholic women of the area may attend. Reservations must be made with Mrs. George Topple Sr., by Oct. 15.

Lillian Conte, president, presided at the meeting and led the members in a vote of thanks to Marge Dean and her committee for a successful Christmas bazaar which was held Oct. 6.

Appreciation was also sent to the society from the Rev. James McCloskey, MM, in Bolivia for the contributions of money and clothing which have been sent to the Maryknoll Mission there. Past President Helen Kramer reported on the meeting of the Update Conference in Kingston Oct. 6. These meetings are held to prepare delegates for the

Youth Is Slain, Tried to Attack Thug With Broom

NEW YORK (AP)—"Stay back there," the holdup man cried when 16-year-old Walter Gammon attacked him with a broom. But as the boy continued to flail away, the robber shot him to death.

Young Gammon was sweeping up in a supermarket in Glendale, Queens, Friday night when the robbery took place.

The gunman, clad in black raincoat and black hat, stepped up to a checkout counter with a carton of cigarettes and whipped out a pistol, police said.

Gammon, a Brooklyn youth, looked up from his sweeping and attacked the robber with his broom.

After the shooting, the gunman fled on foot with about $300 of the store's money.

The trustees agreed, however, to invite Mrs. Kennedy to visit the museum and possibly borrow on a short-term basis some paintings or bronze sculptures by the American artist of the Old West.

Kenneth Van Winkle, a high-school music teacher, had proposed that the painting go to the White House, where, he said, more persons would view it and where it would aid Mrs. Kennedy's efforts to obtain American art for the White House.

The painting depicts Theodore Roosevelt leading his Rough Riders in a charge during the Spanish-American War.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The automobile industry was the brightest spot in the economy during the week.

Most other segments of business rocked along at a good but far from startling pace.

Market Trading Slow

The stock market wallowed in the slowest trading in many months. The Jewish religious holiday, the Columbus Day semiholiday and the World Series distracted interest.

Results in the automobile industry are being eyed as the key to general business conditions in the fourth quarter. If sales of new models are high, it is expected that the spending will bulge over into other retail areas.

So far, carmakers report an enthusiastic public response to the newly introduced 1963s.

They stepped up production during the week to an estimated 156,000 passenger cars, the second-highest weekly output this year. All major companies worked overtime, and Chrysler recalled 600 idle workers to its Jefferson plant in Detroit.

Maintenance of the current production rate would make October the top month of the year with 705,000 cars.

Plans call for building 1.7 million to 1.8 million cars in the balance of this year, making a 1962 total of 6.8 million.

The steel industry was depending on the high automobile production to bite into inventories of steel and bring new orders.

Steel Orders Climbing

Steel orders have been climbing the last two or three weeks but so far there has been no big gain from the carmakers. Steel industry leaders predicted a modest increase in production next month. Output during the week dipped 1.1 per cent from the previous week to 1,746,000 tons.

In the first 40 weeks of this year output totaled 76,528,000 tons, up 5.5 per cent from the 72,531,000 tons in the like period last year.

The University of Michigan's Survey Research Center poll indicated the outlook for consumer spending in the near future is optimistic. But it found that long-range trends "are far from comforting."

The survey found that most people do not expect the unemployment problem to be solved soon and feel that international tensions will have an adverse effect on business.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that department store sales during the week were unchanged from the comparable week last year. However, for the four weeks ended Oct. 6 sales were three per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1961.

Stock, Bond Sales Dip

Stock sales during the week totaled 11,822,758 shares, compared with 13,956,680 the previous week and 16,172,670 for the comparable week last year. Bond sales amounted to $16,276,000, compared with $18,796,000 the previous week and $29,756,000 for the comparable 1961 week.

Heavy construction awards in the week ended Monday rose to $504.7 million from $333.9 million the previous week and $328.9 million a year ago.

F. W. Dodge Corp., which gathers construction statistics, predicted that contract awards for new construction next year will increase to a record $43.4 billion, a gain of about five per cent over this year's anticipated total of $41.3 billion.

The company expects the boost to be inspired by income-tax cuts and greater government spending. On the price front, the wholesale cost of coffee was cut up to five cents a pound by major roasters. Food chains indicated at least some of the reductions will be passed on to consumers.

The Justice Department filed a civil antitrust suit against three big oil companies, Cities Service, Sinclair and Richfield, and asked U.S. District Court in Los Angeles to order them to quit allocation of markets. The companies denied the accusations.

Head Blows May Be Death Cause Near Mass. Line

CANAAN, N.Y. (AP)—Pathologist said "blows about the head" could have caused the death of a man whose body was found in a station wagon parked outside a tavern near the Massachusetts state line.

State Police said, however, they held open the possibility the death was accidental or due to natural causes.

The man was Joseph Klein, 42, of West Stockbridge, Mass. He was an employee of the General Electric Co. at Pittsfield Mass.

The body, clad in work shirt and trousers, was found after daylight Friday by a woman who thought the station wagon belonged to a friend.

Al Tingle, proprietor of the tavern said Klein stopped at the tavern early Friday, had two beers and left after about an hour.

Klein's body lay in the rear of the station wagon. The tail gate was open.

Dr. Joseph Bellamy, the pathologist, told Coroner Fred Palmer that "a possible cause of death was blows about the head, which resulted in concussion."

Palmer withheld his verdict, pending further investigation.
